COUNTY BOARD TO STAND PAT IN BOND SUIT

Recent Suggestions of Fraud in Connection and Instruct Attorney to Answer

WOULD SAVE, CLAIM

Planned to Retire Warrants and Release Money for Crops, Is Explanation

C. A. Swanson, Victor Moynier and Axel Soder, three members of the county board of commissioners, who made arrangements for the sale of from $50,000 to $100,000 of bonds and which action was held up until hearing May 23 by Judge Jameson on petition of tax payers, will stand by their guns, they said today.

The three commissioners met this morning at the court house, Commissioner Patterson, who is ill, and Commissioner Bachman, who is abroad, being absent.

They instructed States Attorney Allen to answer the suit brought in district court, and to appear when the hearing comes up on May 23.

Commissioner Swanson, who was acting chairman of the board when the bond sale was made, was asked why the commissioners had not advertised for bids. He declared that the board thought they had a good deal from the bond houses who offered to buy the bonds at 5 1/4 per cent interest and decided to take it.

State's Attorney Allen, in the informal conversation around the commissioners' table, interposed he thought the commissioners were wrong not to seek bids, and had been wrong in not taking bids on furnishing of stationery and printing supplies.

WOULD SAVE, CLAIM

Commissioner Swanson said that the county was paying 7 per cent on warrants outstanding and that many of the small banks in the county which held the warrants wanted to give them up to get funds to finance the farmers this spring. If the bond sale were made, he said, the county would take up the warrants, save 1 1/4 per cent interest for the tax payers and release funds to aid in financing the farm crops this year.

Commissioner Moynier interposed belief that there wasn't any objection to the commissioners' action out in the county, but that some people in Bismarck had 7 per cent warrants they didn't want to give up.

Commissioner Soder declared that if the commissioners acted wrong, the protestants could go to the Governor and have them removed.

UNDER OLD LAW

The commissioners were, they said, not acting under the law of 1923, which requires the county to go on a cash basis on July 1 if it can sell bonds or warrants, but were acting under the old law giving them authority to issue bonds to retire warrants. The state attorney informally said the commissioners were within their legal powers in acting under the old law.

"We're certainly not going to let this suit pass by without answering when they say we acted fraudulently," Commissioner Swanson said.

He declared that the commissioners' method was a money-saving method, but that the taxpayers in the suit were objecting to saving money.

There apparently is some difference as to the amount of warrants outstanding, Auditor Johnson estimating the amount yesterday at $50,000 and County Treasurer Flory saying today a check-up showed around $180,000.

The auditor reported to the commissioners that tax collections during February and March were about 35 per cent of the total taxes due.

Suggestions from the state's attorney that Auditor Johnson should have got in touch with bond houses was met by a statement from him that he had destroyed notices from a number of bond houses under the impression bonds would not be issued.

The recent sale of city school bonds at less than 5 per cent interest also was mentioned, the representative of another bond house in the room.

Commissioner Soder objected to remarks of the taxpayers' suit and others and declared that the commissioners could, if the people wanted, cut out all maintenance on roads and a lot of other stuff.

No further action on the bond sale will be taken today, outside of instructing the state's attorney to answer the suit.

AMERICAN IS KIDNAPED

Mexico City, May 11.—An American named Neiman has been kidnapped at Charcoazul, state of Durango, according to press dispatches dated May 7, received from Torreon.

The kidnapping is said to have been carried out by Juan Galino, outlaw leader who last month captured O. W. Krull, an American mining engineer, and held him prisoner for two weeks, when Krull escaped.

CHILDHOOD WEALTH OF CITY IS DISPLAYED IN PARADE MARKED BY UNIQUE COSTUMES, BEAUTY DISPLAY

Grand Finale to Infant Welfare Week Display Here Wins
Plaudits of Large Number Who View the Marchers—
200 Wend Their Way Through Streets

Bismarck's wealth in childhood was displayed in a march through the streets yesterday afternoon as a grand finale for Infant Welfare week which has just been completed.

Tiny babies rode in their carriages pushed by proud mothers. Husker tots of two and three years of age rode in splendor on their kidie cars and tricycles, or proudly pushed their baby buggies. The crowd of watchers lining the streets indicated their approval of this group—it was marshalled. Exclamations of "aren't they cute, the little dears, look how soberly they labor to keep up with the big ones," were heard.

The parade consisted of about 200 children and adult marshals.

When vegetables began to dance along the street, big red tomatoes, green leaves of spinach, long yellow wax beans, beets and carrots exclamation of delight broke forth from the crowd. Ten healthful vegetables that should be a part of every child's diet were represented by boys and girls.

PETITIONS ON LAWS DRIFT IN TO STATEHOUSE

Names of Some on Committees
For Petitioners Are Shown
Changed

Changes in originally announced "committees for petitioners" in petitions for referendum on several laws of the last legislature are shown in some petitions which have drifted into the office of the secretary of state.

Petitions for vote on election laws contain the names of Stephen Terhorst, R. W. Frazier, O. H. Olson and M. L. McBride for the petitioners, the name of Angus Frazier not being included on petitions now being circulated.

Petitions on the petitions inaugurated by F. O. Hellstrom for vote on senate bill No. 375, validating bank tax settlements, shows the committee as follows: F. O. Hellstrom, Frank L. Bardsell, Bismarck; M. A. Fulkerson, Devils Lake; Herbert Hard, Fargo; Thorwald Mostad, Minot. Originally the names of J. Nelson Kelly of Grand Forks and L. S. Platoff of Fargo, were on the committee.

The committee named on petitions for referendum on laws attacked by the Nonpartisan League is composed of Frank Vogel of Colchester, Burt F. Baker of Glenburn, W. J. Church of York, J. A. McGovern of Faro, Ralph Ingerson of Flaxton, Mrs. C. A. Fisher of Valley City.

Deputy Secretary of State M. W. Duffy has notified the committee for petitioners that one petition bearing several names for vote on house bill No. 204, an election law is defective in content.

Picturesque Scene.

While many more children might have taken part in the parade at the expense of diminished picturesque beauty and much added labor to the directors, yet a prettier presentation of the significance of healthful children, proper food, and happy children could scarcely have been staged.

To the women of the city who devoted many weeks of preliminary work in preparation for the child welfare week is due much credit.

About 500 children took part in the Infant Welfare parade in Mandan yesterday about the same time as the Bismarck parade.

As acting as judges of the most beautifully decorated doll buggy, the best costume, and various other features were Burt Frazier, W. H. Webb, and Judge L. E. Birdzell of Bismarck.

In the Mandan scoring three children who scored perfect were Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Parsons, and Lillian, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Peter Kupper, and Kenneth J. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Allen.

About 500 were in the Mandan

Prizes were awarded as follows: Best decorated doll buggy, Ruth Williams; best decorated baby buggy wheeled by mother, Mrs. John Sagmiller and baby Lu-

SAUNDERS MAY MOVE PIGGLY

Ire Aroused When Memphis
Fails to Take All Stock

Memphis, Tenn., May 11.—Whether Memphis will retain headquarters of Piggly Wiggly, Inc., with Clarence Saunders voluntarily retiring as president of the company, or the offices will be moved elsewhere, Mr. Saunders retaining control, is expected to be determined at a meeting of local banking interests and a meeting of Chamber of Commerce to-day.

Following failure to sell 50,000 shares of stock in Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., during a three-day campaign conducted by the Chamber of Commerce Mr. Saunders accused "certain banking interests" of failing to co-operate in the movement and in order to protect share-holders and members of the "pool" in the flurry in the stock on the New York stock exchange he would open negotiations which would necessitate removal of headquarters to some other city.

An offer to submit the valuation of the Bismarck Water Supply Com-maximum valuation of $500,000 to remove fears of some people of results of arbitration. Mr. Flannery city commission individually during his stay here of a few days, and night.

The city election on the issuance of $225,000 water works bonds is set for Monday May 14. Mayor Lenhart said that the commission was not in position to deal with Mr. Flannery or anyone else, before the electors had spoken on the bond issue and bids had been received on the cost of building a new plant and making additions to the old. The city commission, then, he said, will know just where it stands.

Mr. Flannery's letter follows:

Board of City Commissioners of the City of Bismarck, N. D.

Gentlemen:

We addressed a letter to you under date of December 30th, 1922, stating in effect that if the City of Bismarck desired to purchase the plant of the Bismarck Water Supply Company and we were unable to agree upon the value of the same, that some form of arbitration might be agreed upon to determine the value. The Bismarck Water Supply Company never received, any answer to that letter or suggestion. Since that date a protracted and expensive litigation has been carried on between the parties without reaching a final decision.

It has been stated to us by some citizens of the City of Bismarck that the City objected to fixing the value of arbitration because they feared the arbitrators might fix what some possibly would consider an excessive valuation. To

BOYS GIVEN BIG FAREWELL

About 300 people were at the private car of Father Flanagan and his boys here yesterday afternoon to give the boys aousing send-off as they left on their trip further west. The boys' band played "Home, Sweet Home" as the train pulled out. Although the band played in Mandan the private car remained on the tracks here. The band goes to Butte, Montana, where it takes the Burlington route back to Omaha. Father Flanagan was enthused over the reception in Bismarck.

LARGEST SUIT BY INDIANS IN FEDERAL COURT

Sioux Nations Demand $700,000 From United States For Violations

DAKOTA INCLUDED

Washington, May 10.—One of the largest lawsuits ever instituted against the Federal Government was filed in the United States District Court of Claims by the Sioux Indian tribe of the Dakotas, Nebraska and Montana. In an effort to recover damages, aggregating practically three-quarters of a billion dollars for lands and property taken from the Sioux by the white man many years ago.

The suit—which harks back to the days of the gold rush into the Black Hills, Custer, the Little Big Horn, Old Fort Laramie, Sitting Bull, Wounded Knee, Red Cloud, Spotted Tail and the White River Trail—is being brought under an act of Congress passed in 1920 giving the Court of Claims jurisdiction. Demand is made in forty separate items for a total of $219,635,149.62. Interest also is demanded on many of the items and, with the interest computed as part of the demand, the total of the suit represents more than $700,000,000.

The act authorizing the suit permits the Sioux to consolidate all their claims in one action. Eight bands of Sioux totaling more than 25,000 Indians, are plaintiffs in the action. They reside on the Rosebud Pine Ridge, Standing Rock, Cheyenne River, Crow Creek and Lower Brule reservations in South Dakota, the Santee Reservation in Nebraska and the Fort Peck Reservation in Montana.

The Sioux allege that the United States has left undone those things which ought to have been done under their treaties of 1851 and 1868 with "the Great White Father" at Washington; that millions of their tribal lands were taken from them in violation of their treaty rights; that the white man slaughtered their game; that their tepees were taken and that their funds were spent by the United States for improper purposes.

An area of more than 6,000,000 acres is alleged to have been taken from them in 1870 in violation of their treaty rights and without just compensation being paid to them. This area embraces the Black Hills, where gold was discovered soon after the end of the Civil War, and is alleged by the Indians to have been taken from them by force of arms in 1874 and 1875. They also contend that the United States permitted and connived in the taking of this land by the white man, and it was known then to be rich in gold.

According to the petition to be filed in the Sioux suit, the Black Hills area has been, and still is, one of the most consistent in the production of gold in the United States. The Homestake Mine, one of the valuable gold producers in this country, is in this area. It was organized and developed by the late Senator George Hearst of California, father of William Randolph Hearst, was the foundation of the Hearst fortune and is declared to be still under the control of the Hearst family.

The Sioux do not ask that the property taken from them be returned to the Indians, and therefore, the suit whatever its outcome, will not jeopardize in any way the title of the present white holders of the land. The Sioux, however, do ask the Government to pay them for the land taken at the rate of $100 an acre for the gold-bearing lands and $50 an acre for the timber land.

GERMANS NOT HOPEFUL OVER REPARATIONS

Sentences to Krupp Directors Puts New Obstacle in Settlement Path

Berlin, May 10.—Whatever may be the nature of the British reply to the German note relative to reparations and the Ruhr there is a pronounced conviction in government and Reichstag circles that the Werden sentences have immeasurably complicated, perhaps frustrated, any attempt to bring about early resumption of the reparations negotiations.

Perhaps no single incident in the Belgian occupation of the Ruhr has provoked such a wide-spread feeling of chagrin and embarrassment, chiefly because the Werden sentences suggest to the German government its apparent importance to assert and maintain its sovereignty on German territory.

MINOT MEN IN NEW COMPANY

Propose to Briquet and Carbonize Lignite Coal

The Dakota Lignite Products Company of Minot, capitalized at $100,000, was granted permission by the Blue Sky Commission yesterday to sell $18,000 stock in the corporation. Twenty-five thousand dollars only will be necessary in starting operations of the concern which proposes to carbonize and briquet lignite. G. E. Leighton, chairman of the board of directors, said here: Operations will start by fall he added.

Officers of the company are S. M. Darling, president; Charles Smith, vice president; L. M. Ruttan, treasurer; H. H. Montgomery, secretary; E. H. Johnson, auditor; Halvor L. Halverson, attorney; directors K. F. Leighton, chairman; Charles Smith; E. A. Shirley, R. W. Pence, S. M. Darling; Max Johnson, Halvor L. Halverson.

The purpose of the company is to manufacture a product protection against weathering and degradation and of equal heat value with anthracite coal, clean and merchantable. The company holds the exclusive license covering the series of patents issued by the United States government to S. M. Darling for the states of North Dakota and South Dakota and Montana, for carbonizing lignite.

NEW RECORD IS MADE BY FORD

Sales of 41,681 Ford Trucks during the first quarter, setting a new high record, bear out predictions made earlier that the use of the one-ton truck in hauling and delivery systems will be greater this year than ever before.

Not only is the Ford Truck rapidly coming into more general use in the commercial field, where its dependability, ease of operation and adaptability to all requirements make it the most popular, but throughout the agricultural sections of the country it is fast being adopted by the farmer as the best means of solving his problem for quicker and cheaper transportation of his products from the farm to the city.

March sales of Ford Trucks, which reached the new high mark of 18,717, exceeded by more than 1,000 the sales for the first three months of 1922, totaling 17,856, and were 50 percent higher than the sales in February of this year.

NERVE EXPLOSIONS

Do you ever get up in the morning "out of the wrong side of bed" and find everything goes wrong during the day? Buttons come off. Shoelaces break. Breakfast toast is searched. The street car is late and packed to the doors when it does come, so there's no seat for you.

As the day progresses, it seems that there's a conspiracy afoot to make you irritable. All the tramp walkers and half-wits in the world manage to get in your way.

The jinx follows. Fingers are clumsy, refuse to obey your brain readily, and you break things from dishes to pencil leads. The mailman apparently has joined the conspiracy. He brings the wrong kind of letters—disappointments, bills.

Everything is out of sorts. Like the Irish soldier, you decide "everybody's out of step but me."

Most of us have enough of the superstitions inking in our brains to make us believe that bad luck is shadowing us on the days when everything goes wrong.

The simple truth is, our nerves are on edge, probably due to something we ate the day before, or to our blood pressure being too low or too high.

Life at such times seems more aggravating than usual. But the trouble is in ourselves, not in life or the people we encounter. They average about the same, day in and day out.

For instance: We saw a man rush into an office building. As he went through the revolving door, he decided that the party in front of him was a slow-moving moron, so he swung the door viciously in an obvious attempt to knock down the stranger in his path. Nerves. Meeting the same stranger under similar circumstances next day, the man (if feeling normal) probably would trail the stranger placidly through the door and maybe pause to borrow a match and exchange the time of day and home brew recipes.

There is nothing quite as cranky as a drunkard or other dope fiend recovering from a debauch, with nerves on edge—a hangover. All of us at times feel the same way, without any preliminary debauch.

We have simply lost control of our nerve force. The pipes are leaking, eager to explode.

What can we do about it? Well, for one thing, we can keep ourselves under control by a determination to maintain a placid and easy-going state of mind. Ruination of the whole day comes from the first yielding to anger when the button comes off as we start to dress. The more we yield, the more we allow ourselves to become irritated, the higher the pressure mounts in our internal mechanism.

A good motto, when nerves are on edge, is: "Oh, well, nothing nor nobody is worth getting mad at. A hundred years from now, what difference will it make?"

GOOD EATING'

Something new to eat is invented in France and served at the Hundred Club, a famous organization of gourmets. Tony Girod, chef at the Cafe de Paris, originated this new mouth-waterer which has a name as long as a yardstick.

Tony served his latest creation at a banquet given to the mayor of Dijon on the eve of that official's departure for Canada to preach the merits of Burgundy wines. (Thirsty Americans will wonder why a missionary is needed.)

Now, ladies, if you want to surprise pa Sunday with Tony Girod's latest delicacy, here's all you have to do:

"Bake in the oven large peeled potatoes weighing at least a pound apiece. Cut them open in a snuff-box shape and hollow out the pulp till they are almost shell-like. On the other hand, prepare a fine Bechamel sauce with two soupspoonsful of finely grated Parmesan cheese and half a pound of butter. Whip these into a cream away from the fire and add some mushroom sauce."

"Pour this cream into each potato and then add two delicately rolled fillets of sole poached in white wine, a scallop cut in pieces, some shrimps, and some browned morel mushrooms. Cover with cream and then pass through a hot oven (the food, not yourself). Serve each potato with a shelled lobster's claw and a thinly sliced truffle on top."

Well, if that's too complicated, give pa roast chicken. And the best stuffing for a roast chicken, according to Mme. Yvon, the queen of French cooks, is made by this recipe:

"Season with black pepper, sage and basil savory and sweet marjoram mint, wild thyme and parsley. Soak the stuffing in port wine and truffles for 48 hours. Spread over the chicken a gravy produced by simmering the carcasses of the birds in a fine veal consomme, to which has been added port wine and Armagnac. If you want to convert this into a hot pie, use a thin top crust and roof it with port wine jelly."

The gourmets of the Hundred Club are still smacking their lips.

O shucks! What's the use? Pa probably would turn up his nose at the unfamiliar mess and grumble that he'd rather have plain chicken or a roast of beef—or even ham and eggs.

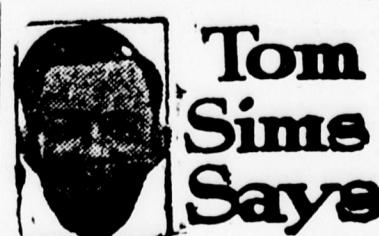

Pa usually is thoughtless, rarely occurs to him to praise and flatter the meals that ma has slaved to produce in the sweltering hot kitchen. Of course, he shows his appreciation by overeating, and tolerant ma is content with that, though down in her heart is an empty spot that can be filled only by spoken praise.

Afterthought: Pa might raise the roof if he knew that so much good wine had been "wasted" in cooking Tony's and Yvon's choice delicacies.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Twins stood looking at the little fairy with eyes that nearly popped out of their heads.

He had suddenly appeared from nowhere at the edge of the forest while they were looking down into a hollow stump.

"It's the sooty smudges on your noses that have given you the right to come to Ragsy Land," he said.

"That stamp is the chimney of one of our houses and the ground you are standing on is the roof. Ragsy Land is under the ground, same as Browneland."

"Thank you for telling us about everything," said Nancy politely.

"Well, I should say so!" answered the fairy. "Can't you tell by my clothes? All Ragsies wear old ragged things. Would you like to go down into Ragsy Land and meet some of my friends? My name is Tatters, Mister Tatters!"

"Oh, yes indeed," answered Nick. "But I have a letter to post first. Nancy, you wait here and I'll be back in two minutes."

All right!" answered Nancy. "I'll tell Nick."

"Just then Nick returned. "Now we're all ready to go," said Tatters. "Just come to the edge of this moss roof and we'll climb down this thick creeper vine. I'll go first and you follow."

Soon they all stood on the queer little street of a queer little town.

"Welcome to Ragsy Town in Ragsy Land," said Tatters. "I'll see where my friends are."

CHAPTER I
The Governor's Suite

Room service at the Ajax is of a quality befitting the newest, the largest, and the most expensive hotel in Dallas. While the standard of excellence is uniformly high, nevertheless some extra cost usually attaches to a breakfast ordered from the Governor's suite—most elegant and most expensive of all the suites—hence the waiter checked over his card and made a final, flattening examination to be sure that the chilled fruit was chilled and the hot plates were hot before he tapped on the door. A voice, loud and cheery, bade him enter.

"City editor? Well, I'm from the Ajax Hotel, and I leave a tip for you, I'm one of the room clerks. Listen! Calvin Gray, is registered here—got in last night, on gum shoes, . . . Gray! Calvin Gray! Better shoot a reporter around and get a story. . . . You don't? Well, other people know him. He's a character—globetrotter, soldier of fortune, financier. He's been everywhere and done everything, and you can get a great story if you've got a man clever enough to make him talk. But he won't loosen easily. . . . Oh, I suppose, but—. . . Sure! Under cover Mystery stuff! Another big syndicate probably. . . . Oh, that's all right. I'm an old newspaper man myself. Don't mention it."

"Splendid," he cried. "Nice rooms, prompt service, a pleasant-faced waiter. Why I couldn't fare better in my best club. Thanks to you, my first impression of Dallas is wholly delightful!" He seated himself in a padded boudoir chair, unfolded a snowy servette, and attacked his breakfast with the enthusiasm of a perfectly healthy animal.

"Into the largest and newest of Dallas buildings Gray went, a white tile and stone skyscraper, the entire lower floor of which was devoted to an impressive banking room. He sent his card in to the president, and spent perhaps ten minutes with that gentleman. He had called merely to get acquainted, so he explained.

Before he left the bank Gray had met the other clerks, and from their manner he saw that he had created a decided impression upon them. The bank president himself walked with him to the marble railing, then said:

"I'd like to have you wait and meet my son, Lieutenant Roswell. He's just back from overseas, and the boy served with some distinction. A father's pride, you understand?"

"Was Lieutenant Roswell in France?" Gray inquired, quickly.

"Oh, yes. He'll be in at any minute."

"A shadow of regret crossed the caller's face. "I'm sorry, but we arranged to call on the mayor, and I've no time to lose. What unit was your son with?"

"The Ninety-eighth Field Artillery."

The shadow fled. Mr. Gray was vexed at the necessity for haste, but he would look forward to meeting the young hero later.

Gray's fingers strayed to the small change in his trousers pocket and he turned longing eyes back toward the bank interior. Without doubt it was a temptation, especially inasmuch as at that moment his well manicured right hand held its grasp every cent that he possessed.

The waiter proceeded to do as directed but a moment later announced, apologetically: "Here's all I find, sir. It's mostly pennies." He exposed a handful of small coins.

"Look in my coat, if you will."

But the second search resulted as had the first. "Strange!" murmured the guest, without rising. "I must have been robbed. I remember now, a fellow crowded me as I left my train. Um-m! Robbed—at the very gates of Bagdad! Dallas is a City of Adventure. Please add your tip to the check, and—make it two dollars. I'd like to have you serve me every morning, for I cannot abide an aghast face at breakfast. It sours my whole day."

Calvin Gray finished his breakfast, smoked a cigaret as he scanned the morning paper, then he dressed himself with meticulous care.

Some men possess an effortless knack of commanding attention and inspiring courtesy. Calvin Gray was one of these. Before many moments, he was in, the manager's office, explaining, saucily, "Now that I have introduced myself, I wish to thank you for taking care of me upon such short notice."

"It was the only space we had. If you wish, I'll have your rooms changed as soon as—"

"Have you something better?"

Haviland, the manager, laughed and shook his head. "Scarcely! That suite is our pet and our pride. There's nothing to beat it in the whole Southwest."

"It is very nice. May I inquire the rate?"

"Twenty-five dollars a day."

"Quite reasonable." Mr. Gray beamed his satisfaction.

"It is the only suite we have left. We've put beds in the parlors of the others, and frequently we have to double up our guests. This oil excitement is a blessing to us poor innkeepers. I presume it's oil that brings you here?"

Gray met the speaker's interrogatory gaze with a negative shake of the head and a smile peculiarly non-committal. "No," he declared. "I'm not in the oil business and I have no money to invest in it. On the contrary, I am a penniless adventurer whom chance alone has cast upon your hospitable grand staircase."

These words were spoken with a suggestion of mock modesty that had precisely the effect of a deliberate wink, and Mr. Haviland smiled and nodded his complete comprehension.

"I get you," said he. "And you're right. The lease hounds would devil you to death if you gave them a chance. Now then, if there's any way in which I can be of service—"

"There is." Gray's tone was at once businesslike. "Please give me the names of your leading bankers. I mean the strongest and the most well, discreet."

During the next few minutes Gray received and swiftly tabulated in his mind a deal of inside information usually denied to the average stranger.

Gray appeared to know exactly what he wanted to do. For stopped at the telephone booth, inquired the number of the leading afternoon

Musical Club Gives Luncheon for Mmes. Wray and Jacobson

Members of the Thursday Musical club gave a 1 o'clock luncheon complimentary to Mrs. A. G. Jacobson of Bismarck, Minn., and Mrs. H. O. Wray at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday. Covers were laid for 20 guests. A large variegated bouquet and a centerpiece on the luncheon table. This was afterwards sent to Mrs. Emma G. Wheeler of Mandan, an honorary member of the club, who was unable to attend.

Miss Jacobson, former member of the club, is visiting with friends in Bismarck after having moved to Minnesota last spring. She was presented with a corsage bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Wray who has been a member of the club here for the past two years, left last evening for Fort Worth, Texas, where she will make her home. She was presented with a beautiful piece of luster ware by her friends.

Following luncheon officers were elected at their annual business meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Larson. The new officers are:

Mrs. J. P. French, president; Mrs. A. J. Arnot, vice president; Mrs. R. A. Tracy, recording secretary; Mrs. J. A. Larson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. E. Morris, librarian.

Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly to get permanent relief from constipation!

Freedom from constipation, mild or chronic, can be surely looked for if you will eat Kellogg's Bran every day! Two tablespoonsfuls are sufficient; for severe cases with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran is nature's most wonderful food awaiting a chance to bring back your health. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that.

Being cooked and crumbled, Kellogg's Bran is delicious in its nut-like flavor. It should not be confused with common bran which is unpalatable and hard to eat. Kellogg's Bran adds greatly to the pleasure of eating other hot or cold cereals. A popular way to serve Kellogg's Bran is to cook it with hot cereals. In preparation, add two tablespoonsfuls of Bran for each person, mixing it with the cereal to be cooked.

Kellogg's Bran is especially delicious in raisin bread, muffins, pancakes, macaroons, etc. Recipes appear on each package.

Realize what Kellogg's Bran is doing for constipation sufferers all over the nation, then just think what it can do for you and yours. The horrors to come should guide you to eat bran regularly, to serve it in some form each day.

You can drive constipation out of your family with Kellogg's Bran and remove the cause of 90% of human illness! First-class hotels and clubs serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. Ask for it at your restaurant. All grocers.

Mrs. M. Blackmore, of Jamestown, a member of St. Alexius nurses training class of 1919, was present and will remain for the graduating exercises Saturday night.

Big Ticket Sale For Thursday Musical Concert

Tickets for the third annual concert to be given by the Thursday Musical club Tuesday, May 15, at the Presbyterian church indicate that their will be a full house in attendance.

The ladies handling the sales declare that they have found the people of Bismarck ready to respond and had been greatly aided by the cooperative spirit shown by the Women's Community Council and the Association of Commerce. They say that many of the people have expressed the opinion that the Musical club is one organization which should have the undivided support of the public after the way in which the members are constantly called upon to give their talent free and offer their talents for public occasions where music is of inestimable value.

The program for the concert has been worked out to the last detail and will be printed tomorrow. The piano numbers, two-piano and eight-hand piano selections which are on the program will prove of unusual interest to an audience. The two piano numbers will be given by Mrs. Bauer and Mrs. De Louroux; the eight-hand piano selections will be presented by Mmes. Hughes, Morris, Tracy and Wingreen.

NERVE EXPLOSIONS

Do you ever get up in the morning "out of the wrong side of bed" and find everything goes wrong during the day? Buttons come off. Shoelaces break. Breakfast toast is scorched. The street car is late and packed to the doors when it does come, so there's no seat for you.

As the day progresses, it seems that there's a conspiracy afoot to make you irritable. All the tramps, walkies and hulks in the world manage to get in your way.

The jinx follows. Fingers are clumsy, refuse to obey your brain readily, and you break things from dishes to pencil leads.

The mailman apparently has joined the conspiracy. He brings the wrong kind of letters—disappointments, bills.

Everything is out of sorts. Like the Irish soldier, you decide "everybody's out of step but me."

Most of us have enough of the superstitious inkling in our brains to make us believe that bad luck is shadowing us on the days when everything goes wrong.

The simple truth is, our nerves are on edge, probably due to something we ate the day before, or to our blood pressure being too low or too high.

Life at such times seems more aggravating than usual. But the trouble is in ourselves, not in life or the people we encounter. They average about the same, day in and day out.

For instance: We saw a man rush into an office building. As he went through the revolving door, he decided that the party in front of him was a slow-moving moron, so he swung the door viciously in an obvious attempt to knock down the stranger in his path. Nerves. Meeting the same stranger under similar circumstances next day, the man (if feeling normal) probably would trail the stranger placidly through the door and maybe pause to borrow a match and exchange the time of day and home brew recipes.

There is nothing quite as cranky as a drunkard or other dope fiend recovering from a debauch, with nerves on edge—a hangover. All of us at times feel the same way, without any preliminary debauch.

We have simply lost control of our nerve force. The pipes are leaking, easier to explode.

What can we do about it? Well, for one thing, we can keep ourselves under control by a determination to maintain a placid and easy-going state of mind. Ruination of the whole day dates from the first yielding to anger when the piano comes off as we start to dress. The more we yield, the more we allow ourselves to become irritated, the higher the pressure mounts in our internal mechanism.

A good motto, when nerves are on edge, is: "Oh, well, nothing nor nobody is worth getting mad at. A hundred years from now, what difference will it make?"

GOOD EATING

Something new to eat is invented in France and served at the Hundred Club, a famous organization of gourmets. Tony Girod, chef at the Cafe de Paris, originated this new mouth-waterer which has a name as long as a yardstick.

Tony served his latest creation at a banquet given to the mayor of Dijon on the eve of that official's departure for Canada to preach the merits of Burgundy wines. (Thirsty Americans will wonder why a missionary is needed.)

Now, ladies, if you want to surprise pa Sunday with Tony Girod's latest delicacy, here's all you have to do:

"Bake in the oven large peeled potatoes weighing at least a pound apiece. Cut them open in a snuff-box shape and hollow out the pulp till they are almost shell-like. On the other hand, prepare a fine Bechamel sauce with two soupspoonsful of finely grated Parmesan cheese and half a pound of butter. Whip this into a cream away from the fire and add some mushroom sauce."

"Pour this cream into each potato and then add two delicately rolled fillets of sole poached in white wine, a scallop cut in pieces, some shrimps, and some browned moril mushrooms. Cover with cream and then pass through a hot oven (the food, not yourself). Serve each potato with a shelled lobster's claw and a thinly sliced truffle on top."

Well, if that's too complicated, give pa roast chicken. And the best stuffing for a roast chicken, according to Mme. Yvon, the Queen of French cooks, is made by this recipe:

"Season with black pepper, sage and basil savory and sweet marjoram mint, wild thyme and parsley. Soak the stuffing in port wine and truffles for 48 hours. Spread over the chicken a gravy produced by simmering the carcasses of the birds in a fine veal consomme, to which has been added port wine and Armagnac. If you want to convert this into a hot pie, use a thin top crust and roof it with port wine jelly."

The gourmets of the Hundred Club are still smacking their lips.

O shucks! What's the use? Pa probably would turn up his nose at the unfamiliar mess and grumble that he'd rather have plain chicken or a roast of beef—or even ham and eggs.

Pa usually is thoughtless, rarely occurs to him to praise and flatter the meals that ma has slaved to produce in the sweltering hot kitchen. Of course, he shows his appreciation by overeating, and tolerant ma is content with that, though down in her heart is an empty spot that can be filled only by spoken praise.

Afterthought: Pa might raise the roof if he knew that so much good wine had been "wasted" in cooking Tony's and Yvon's choice delicacies.

TRAGEDY

Alone in the world, having buried her husband and the last of her 10 children, is the sad fate of Mrs. Alice Johns, Lakewood, O. With great pride she saw her children grow up. One became the baseball player, Dave Johns. Now they're gone, all of them; and the widowed mother faces the future in loneliness.

If you think you have sorrow and trouble, remember Mrs. Johns.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Twins stood looking at the little fairy with eyes that nearly popped out of their heads.

He had suddenly appeared from nowhere at the edge of the forest, while they were looking down into a hollow stump.

"It's the sooty smudges on your noses that have given you the right to come to Raggy Land," he said. "That stump is the chimney of one of our houses and the ground you are standing on is the roof. Raggy Land is under the ground, same as Brownland."

"Thank you for telling us about everything," said Nancy politely. "Are you a Raggy Lander?"

"Well, I should say so!" answered the fairy. "Can't you tell by my clothes? All Ragges wear old ragged things. Would you like to go down into Raggy Land and meet some of my friends? My name is Tatters, Mister Tatters!"

"Oh, yes indeed," answered Nick. "But I have a letter to post first. Nancy, you wait here and I'll be back in two minutes."

Away he went to the hickory-tree postoffice and gave his letter to Mr. Stamps, the little fairy postman.

"Bake in the oven large peeled potatoes weighing at least a pound apiece. Cut them open in a snuff-box shape and hollow out the pulp till they are almost shell-like. On the other hand, prepare a fine Bechamel sauce with two soupspoonsful of finely grated Parmesan cheese and half a pound of butter. Whip this into a cream away from the fire and add some mushroom sauce."

"Pour this cream into each potato and then add two delicately rolled fillets of sole poached in white wine, a scallop cut in pieces, some shrimps, and some browned moril mushrooms. Cover with cream and then pass through a hot oven (the food, not yourself). Serve each potato with a shelled lobster's claw and a thinly sliced truffle on top."

Well, if that's too complicated, give pa roast chicken. And the best stuffing for a roast chicken, according to Mme. Yvon, the Queen of French cooks, is made by this recipe:

"Season with black pepper, sage and basil savory and sweet marjoram mint, wild thyme and parsley. Soak the stuffing in port wine and truffles for 48 hours. Spread over the chicken a gravy produced by simmering the carcasses of the birds in a fine veal consomme, to which has been added port wine and Armagnac. If you want to convert this into a hot pie, use a thin top crust and roof it with port wine jelly."

The gourmets of the Hundred Club are still smacking their lips.

O shucks! What's the use? Pa probably would turn up his nose at the unfamiliar mess and grumble that he'd rather have plain chicken or a roast of beef—or even ham and eggs.

Pa usually is thoughtless, rarely occurs to him to praise and flatter the meals that ma has slaved to produce in the sweltering hot kitchen. Of course, he shows his appreciation by overeating, and tolerant ma is content with that, though down in her heart is an empty spot that can be filled only by spoken praise.

Afterthought: Pa might raise the roof if he knew that so much good wine had been "wasted" in cooking Tony's and Yvon's choice delicacies.

The Lord rewardeth me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me.—II Sam. 22:21.

God be thanked that there are some in the world to whom hearts the barnacles will not cling!—J. G. Holland.

POET'S CORNER

"There's a Mother Old and Gray,"

(By Lena D. Sheptenko, in honor of "Mother's Day," Sunday, May 13, 1923.)

There's a Mother old and gray,
Somewhere far, far away—

Who is longing, waiting for you,
So why not write to her today?

There's a mother old and gray,
Who loves to hear her loved one say—

"I'll always be the same to you dear
Mother—

Even though beauty leaves you day

by day."

"I'll always love you true, my Mother,
Though days may darken, sunshine

fade,

Because you brought sunshine into my life,

And crushed the thorns of bitter strife."

"Oh, I love you, my dearest Mother,
You who taught me how to live and learn,

How to be helpful, how to live true,

That is why I'll love you all life through."

There's a Mother old and gray,

Who needs you always, who needs

you now—

Time had brought deep furrows to her brow,

But her silver head in grief must never bow.

There's a Mother old and gray,

Who longingly waits with open arms

For the wandering boy or the wandering girl,

Who returns to her upon this day.

The voices must blend, the bells must ring,

With the old, old hymn of yore,

Telling the sweet story of love so true,

Singing "Sweetest flowers will always blow for you."

"OUR MOTHERS."

Bismarck and New Salem Pioneers Honored at the A. C.

Fargo, May 11—Six North Dakota farmers who have made significant contributions to the advancement of agriculture in the state were honored by students, faculty, and others at a banquet Wednesday evening, May 9, at the North Dakota Agricultural College when their portraits were hung in Agricultural hall in the new gallery of the Saddle and Sirloin club, organization of agricultural students at the college.

Three of the men chosen for the honor are still living and were present at the banquet: John Christensen, Holstein breeder and president of the state's famous cooperative project, the New Salem Holstein Breeders association; Frank Sanford, Rogers, breeder of purebred beef cattle and hogs; and Sam Fletcher, Valley City, pioneer importer of Shorthorn cattle into North Dakota. The other three men whose work was eulogized at the banquet are J. B. Powers, Leonard, deceased, whose son J. A. Powers of Leonard was present; former caryman, and pioneer breeder of flint corn in North Dakota; and J. H. Bosard, deceased, Grand Forks former Jersey breeder, and farmer-leader.

Some 75 persons were present at the banquet which was presided over by Burt Oderkirk, president of the Saddle and Sirloin club. Prof. J. H. Sheppard was toastmaster, and other speakers were Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the college; Prof. E. J. Thompson, animal husbandry department, and William Guy, county agent of Cass county.

Traufer, Grand Forks, secretary; and Mrs. Margaret Froats, Grand Forks; M. Cook, Jamestown; Ed.

Temporary Workers Political Club Is Formed

Grand Forks, N. D., May 11—Temporary organization of the Workers Political club, intended to function as an independent political unit and to attract to its support the votes of the labor union members and other workers in the state was perfected at a meeting of delegates to the North Dakota Federation of Labor.

As outlined by M. Traufer of Grand Forks, the club would not be affiliated with any political party.

While he said the Nonpartisan League, with which labor has been affiliated for several years, had done things for labor, he said also that one "could never tell" what the future might bring. He emphasized the need of a workers' political club that would exercise a balance of power and be in position to obtain those things demanded by labor.

Temporary officers follow: P. T. Beals, Dickinson, president; M.

Leonard, Williston; John Jacobson Wilton; Conrad Meyer, Fargo; S. S. McDonald, Bismarck members of the executive board.

CONNIE MACK'S TEAM GOES BIG IN AMERICANS

Called Sensation Team of the League Race Thus Far

Chicago, May 11.—Connie Mack's Athletics continue to furnish the early season sensation of major league baseball. Having made a good showing against eastern teams they have sought a good stride in their first division invasion after losing the first contest, winning yesterday over the St. Louis Browns in a slugging match.

HALL OF FAME PICTURES HUNG

Bismarck and New Salem Pioneers Honored at the A. C.

Fargo, May 11.—Six North Dakota farmers who have made significant contributions to the advancement of agriculture in the state were honored by students, faculty, and others at a banquet Wednesday evening, May 9, at the North Dakota Agricultural College when their portraits were hung in Agricultural Hall in the new gallery of the Saddle and Sirloin club, organization of agricultural students at the college.

Three of the men chosen for the honor are still living and were present at the banquet: John Christensen, Holstein breeder and president of the state's famous cooperative project, the New Salem Holstein Breeders' association; Frank Sanford, Rogers, breeder of purebred beef cattle and hogs; and Sam Fletcher, Valley City, pioneer importer of Shorthorn cattle into North Dakota. The other three men whose work was eulogized at the banquet are J. B. Powers, Leonard, deceased, whose son J. A. Powers of Leonard was present, former nurseryman, and pioneer breeder of flint corn in North Dakota; and J. H. Busard, deceased, Grand Forks former Jersey breeder, and farmer-leader.

Some 75 persons were present at the banquet, which was presided over by Burt Oderkirk, president of the Saddle and Sirloin club. Prof. J. H. Shepherd was toastmaster, and other speakers were Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the college; Prof. E. J. Thompson, animal husbandry department, and William Guy, county agent of Cass county.

LABOR PLANS FOR POLITICS

Temporary Workers Political Club Is Formed

Grand Forks, N. D., May 11—Temporary organization of the Workers Political club, intended to function as an independent political unit and to attract to its support the votes of the labor union members and other workers in the state was perfected at a meeting of delegates to the North Dakota Federation of Labor.

As outlined by M. Traufler of Grand Forks, the club would not be affiliated with any political party.

While he said the Nonpartisan league, with which labor has been affiliated for several years, had done things for labor, he said also that one "could never tell" what the future might bring. He emphasized the need of a workers' political club that would exercise a balance of power and be in position to obtain those things demanded by labor.

Temporary officers follow: P. T. Beals, Dickinson, president; M.

'RED BIRD' NEW OVERLAND, IS SEEN IN CITY

Beautiful New Model Is Put on Display at Lahr Motor Sales Co.

The 1923 series of the Overland has lately been added to, by the bringing out of a remarkably triumphant combination of beauty and utility, finished in Mandalay Maroon, called the Red Bird. In addition to embodying in an unusual degree the essentials of skillful design and solidity of construction, this model is especially notable for the complete equipment it carries on leaving the factory.

The Red Bird is characterized by the installation of a number of refinements and conveniences, all necessities for complete motoring satisfaction, that point indisputably to greater values for the purchaser. This latest model is a brilliant accomplishment by the Willys-Overland Company and as usual represents a successful effort to provide up-to-date and economical transportation for the American public.

In general appearance the Red Bird is a creation striking to the eye without overstepping the bounds of refined taste. Mandalay Maroon is a subtle shading of red for the body, that pleases with rare artistic conformity, neither making the car glaringly conspicuous and vulgarly apparent.

It is an illustration of fine, well-bred coloring that is in direct contrast to standardized, slap dash paint jobs, where something out of the ordinary is the aim and no thought given to possible jarring effects on the vision. Mandalay Maroon is also a shade that will stand up under the most exacting weather conditions and not influenced by the rays of the summer suns or the rigors of frost and dampness.

Combined with this artistic blending is the Khaki top of serviceable material that will also hold its own in all seasons. And with this happy conjunction of tan and maroon are sprinkled the glistening, twinkled trimmings on the radiator, head lamps, bumpers, windshield stanchions, scuff plates and frame of the rear curtain window.

Picture this handsome association of nickel tan and Mandalay Maroon and the sketch is concluded in an exceptionally delightful range of harmony in color tones. Add to this the intrinsic mechanical advantages obtained in the Red Bird and the effect is consummated.

The Willys-Overland Company has always maintained and steadfastly worked towards the end that beauty, utility, and economical performance can be assembled in one unit. Comfortable riding qualities have always been demanded in Overland design and in order to place further emphasis on this requirement the wheel base of the Red Bird has been lengthened to 106 inches and the spring base to

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. My cousin advised May's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and relieves the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Mrs. Starr Tells of Her Experience With Tanlac

AMERICAN IS RELEASED BY CHINESE BAND

San Francisco Man Arrives, Declaring Other Foreigners in Good Health

Pekin, China, May 11.—H. J. A. Henley of San Francisco, one of the Americans captured by Chinese bandits in the train raid of last Sunday, has been released, according to a dispatch from Linching which reports his arrival there. Mr. Henley declares, it is added, that other foreigners held by the bandits are in good health.

EXPECT RELEASE.
Shanghai, China, May 11.—United States Minister Schurmann, who arrived here with his wife at midnight announced that he expected hourly to hear that the Suchow train bandits had released all of their captives.

GOES TO BANDITS.
Tsingtao, China, May 11.—Dr. Heinberger of the Canton Christian university has left for Linching, guaranteed safe conduct to the mountain strong-hold of the Chinese bandits where he will be conducted to the foreign captives who were taken from the Pekin express train last Sunday.

All of the captives were reported to be alive, but some of them, including J. B. Powell, American newspaper man, were reported to be ill. Dr. Heinberger's mission was arranged by the American consul, Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., buried her jewelry not far from the scene of the hold-up. Standard Oil employees have gone to search for the spot.

CHINA MAKES PROMISE.
Washington, May 11.—Chinese officials have promised American Minister Schurmann that they will consider a general policy of "extermination of bandits" as soon as the present situation growing out of the capture of foreigners in the Suchow train robbery has been adjusted.

Presenting the Big New Overland

RED BIRD

America's First Low Priced English Type Car

Here is a new and brilliant American achievement in economical motoring—the big new Overland Red Bird.

A new delight to the eye! A new thrill to drive! A joy to ride in! A revelation in economy! Reflecting unmistakably the vast experience and resourcefulness of the great Willys-Overland organization.

A car that is unlike Tom's, Dick's and Harry's; distinctive; more beautiful. A car you will own and drive with pride, and with economy.

A creation in rich, gleaming Mandalay maroon, topped in khaki. A larger, more powerful motor. A much longer wheelbase, a roomier body, and the fleet lines of a revenue cutter. Glistening nickel radiator, head-lamp rims, windshield stanchions, scuff plates, door handles and back curtain frame. First quality Fisk cord tires. A windshield wiper, bumpers front and rear—everything!

Examine the new Overland Red Bird in our show room. Judge for yourself how precisely Overland again has sensed and gratified the ideal of American families who seek distinction without extravagance.

RHEUMATISM
A Remarkable Home Treatment Given in One Jar.
In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and SubAcute Rheumatism. suffered as only those who have the disease can know over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given this number who were terribly afflicted every remedy, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute swelling at the joints or rheumatism, to try this "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't make any mistake about your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be that long-continued relief, you will be in a position to charge the price of such form of rheumatism, you may send the price of it. One Dollar, but understand we do not want you to make any charge if you are satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when you can get relief for free. Don't delay. Write today.
